WP TrustANNUAL REPORT*IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund*LETTER TO SHAREHOLDERS

February 29, 2020 (Unaudited)

Dear Shareholders,

The IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund, ("IPSAX" or "the Fund") finished its fiscal year ended February 29, 2020 up 4.82% ^(a) compared to the S&P 500® Total Return Index ^(b) ("S&P 500") returning 8.19% over the past 1-year period.

The better part of the fiscal year was characterized by a low volatility trend higher in U.S. equity markets coming off a volatile year in 2018. In general, a low volatility trend higher with routine (5-10%) pullbacks throughout tends to cause the net asset value ("NAV") of the Fund to increase, albeit less than the general market. The reason the Fund tends to return less when markets rise is because the Fund constantly holds portfolio insurance in the form of long put options. The Adviser aims to reduce the carrying cost of owning put options as much as possible while still maintaining their defensive nature.

Between the beginning of the fiscal year and the end of September 2019, investor sentiment was slowly rising despite the fact that the S&P 500 was up only 8.14% in those seven months. The Fund managed to return 2.52% in the same period with the underperformance mainly attributable to the Fund's hedging approach. Since the Fund's strategy dictates that hedges are maintained in low volatility environments it is common for a routine (5-10%) pullback to not cause the Fund to outperform the market in a significant manner. The Fund's hedging approach is designed to protect from wealth destroying events and bear markets, not the routine pullback in an overall bull trend. The pullbacks we saw in 2019 fit into the routine pullback category and thus did not provide enough of an increase in implied volatility and decline in equity prices to cause the hedges to perform at a level where you would see the Fund outperform significantly.

After a very brief pullback to start the month of the October 2019, the market bottomed on October 2nd and the S&P 500 continued to rally over 18% at its highs in February 2020. During this breathtaking rally, the Fund was able to return approximately 10.87% at its highs prior to markets selling off which is in line with the upside capture that the Fund desires in grind higher markets.

Despite the fact that COVID-19 fears began permeating around global markets in mid to late January 2020, markets continued mindlessly grinding higher, ignoring the potential risks. As the cases began spreading outside of Mainland China, markets faced the reality that we could potentially have a global pandemic on our hands and risk assets quickly repriced lower in late February 2020.

The Fund was positioned well to capitalize on the quick repricing lower in equities and large increase in equity implied volatility, losing only 5.66% between February 19th, 2020 and February 29th, 2020 compared to the S&P 500 falling 12.70%. The entire rally from early October 2019 was given back in a couple of weeks and the S&P 500 finished the period between September 30th, 2019 and February 29th, 2020 up 0.04%. The Fund's disciplined approach of always being hedged and always being invested allowed it to outperform in the extreme bout of volatility, bringing the returns in this period to 2.25%.

The Fund's approach of always being invested and always being hedged can lead to long periods of underperformance followed by extreme volatility and significant outperformance. The sell off we saw to end the fiscal year was a great example of how equity returns can evaporate quickly if you aren't hedging your gains and gives the Adviser confidence in the Fund's approach going forward.

The Adviser feels that by sticking to its approach and systematic implementation of hedging that it allowed it to ultimately achieve its investment goal which is protecting and growing out shareholders capital. Should we enter a new bear market in 2020, the Adviser feels that the Fund can continue to achieve its goals regardless of how volatile markets may become.

As always, we will strive to continue to do our very best for our shareholders and appreciate the privilege of protecting and growing our shareholder's capital.

Best regards,

Dominick Paoloni, CIMA[®]
CIO & Founder
Portfolio Manager, IPSAX
Adjunct Professor, University of Denver

ANNUAL REPORT

IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund

INVESTMENT HIGHLIGHTS

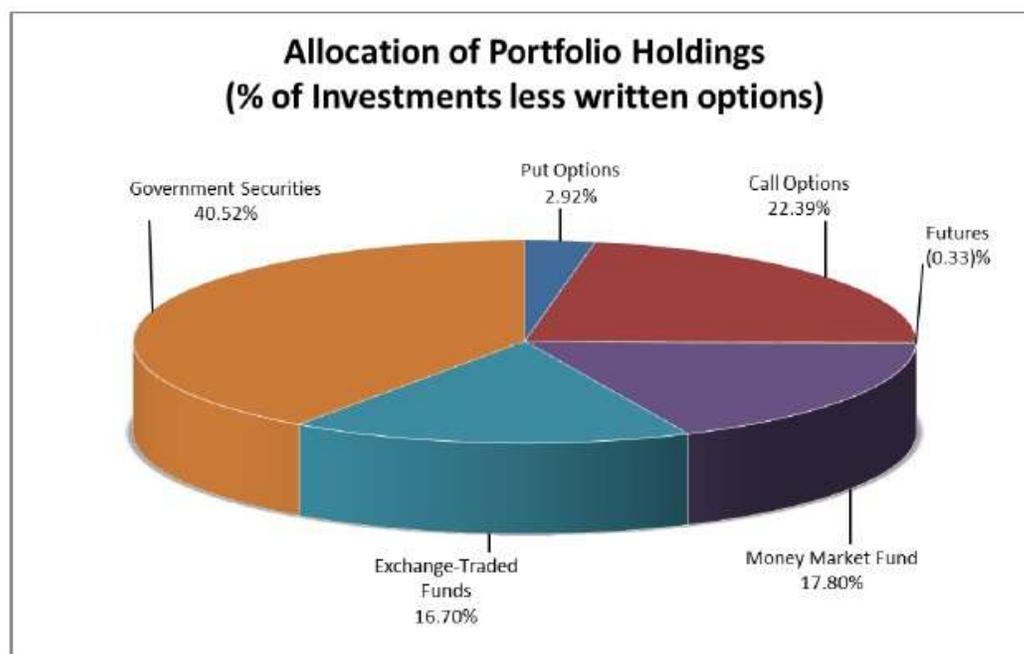

February 29, 2020 (Unaudited)

The investment objective of the IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund (the “Fund”) is total return. Under normal circumstances, the Fund’s primary strategy consists of selling and purchasing put and call options on equity indices and exchange traded funds (“ETFs”). The sale of put options generates income for the Fund, but exposes it to the risk of declines in the value of the underlying assets. The risk in purchasing options is limited to the premium paid by the Fund for the options. The sale of call options generates income for the Fund, but may limit the Fund’s participation in equity market gains.

IPS Strategic Capital, Inc. (the “Adviser”) seeks to reduce the overall volatility of returns by managing a portfolio of options. The Fund buys and sells both put and call exchange-traded listed options to establish exposure to the overall market. When the Adviser believes the value of an underlying asset will decline, the Fund may purchase a put option to profit from the decline. Similarly, when the Adviser anticipates an increase in the value of an underlying asset, the Fund may purchase a call option with respect to that asset.

The Fund may take a defensive position when the Adviser believes that current market, economic, political or other conditions are unsuitable and would impair the pursuit of the Fund’s investment objectives. When taking a defensive position, the Fund may invest up to 100% of its assets in cash, cash equivalents, including but not limited to, obligations of the U.S. Government, money market fund shares, commercial paper, certificates of deposit and/or bankers acceptances, as well as other interest bearing or discount obligations or debt instruments that carry an investment grade rating by a national rating agency. When the Fund takes a defensive position, the Fund may not achieve its investment objectives.

The Adviser reallocates the Fund’s investments continually to be commensurate with the risk profile that the Adviser deems appropriate for the Fund. The Fund seeks to use leverage to modify portfolio risk to be equal to, or less than that of, the market in total.

The percentages in the above graph are based on the portfolio holdings of the Fund as of February 29, 2020 and are subject to change.

The above graph depicts the performance of the IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund versus the S&P 500 Total Return Index. The S&P 500 Total Return Index is a broad unmanaged index of 500 stocks, which is widely recognized as representative of the equity market in general. Please note that indices do not take into account any fees and expenses of investing in the individual securities that they track and individuals cannot invest directly in any index.

As with any fund, save an index fund, that commonly compares its performance to the S&P 500 Total Return Index, such a comparison may be said to be inappropriate because of the dissimilarity between the Fund's investments and the securities comprising the index; so too with the IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund, which will generally not invest in all the securities comprising the index.

a) Security Valuation – All investments in securities are recorded at their estimated fair value, as described in Note 2.

b) Options – The Fund's option strategy consists of selling and purchasing put and call options on equity indices and exchange traded funds ("ETFs"). The sale of put options generates income for the Fund, but exposes it to the risk of declines in the value of the underlying assets. The risk in purchasing options is limited to the premium paid by the Fund for the options. The sale of call options generates income for the Fund, but may limit the Fund's participation in equity market gains. The Fund's Adviser seeks to reduce the overall volatility of returns by managing a portfolio of options. When the Fund writes or purchases an option, an amount equal to the premium received or paid by the Fund is recorded as a liability or an asset and is subsequently adjusted to the current value of the option written or purchased. Premiums received or paid from writing or purchasing options which expire unexercised are treated by the Fund on the expiration date as realized gains or losses. The difference between the premium and the amount paid or received on effecting a closing purchase or sale transaction, including brokerage commissions, is also treated as a realized gain or loss. If an option is exercised, the premium paid or received is added to the cost of the purchase or proceeds from the sale in determining whether the Fund has realized a gain or a loss on investment transactions.

Purchasing and selling put and call options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary investment risks. The successful use of options depends in part on the ability of the Adviser to manage future price fluctuations and the degree of correlation between the options and securities (or currency) markets. By selling call options on equity securities or indices, the Fund gives up the opportunity to benefit from potential increases in the value of the underlying securities above the strike prices of the sold call options, but continues to bear the risks of declines in the value of the markets, including the underlying indices for the puts as well, if different, as the securities that are held by the Fund. The premium received from the sold options may not be sufficient to offset any losses sustained from the volatility of the underlying equity indices over time.

The Fund will incur a loss as a result of a written option (also referred to as a short position) if the price of the written option instrument increases in value between the date when the Fund writes the option and the date on which the Fund purchases an offsetting position. The Fund's losses are potentially large in a written put transaction and potentially unlimited in a written call transaction. Please refer to the Fund's prospectus for a full listing of risks associated with these instruments.

c) ETFs and Money Market Funds – The Fund may invest in ETFs and money market mutual funds ("MM Funds"). An ETF is a fund that may hold a portfolio of common stocks or bonds designed to track the performance of a securities index or sector of an index. ETFs are traded on a securities exchange based on their market value. An ETF portfolio is designed to track the performance of an index and it is possible the ETF's performance may not closely track its index. ETFs and MM Funds incur fees and expenses such as operating expenses, licensing fees, registration fees, trustees' fees, and marketing expenses, and ETF and MM Fund shareholders, such as the Fund, pay their proportionate share of these expenses. Your cost of investing in the Fund will generally be higher than the cost of investing directly in ETFs and MM Funds. By investing in the Fund, you will indirectly bear fees and expenses charged by the underlying ETFs and MM Funds in which the Fund invests in addition to the Fund's direct fees and expenses.

d) Short Sales of Securities – The Fund may make short sales, which are transactions in which the Fund sells a security it does not own in anticipation of a decline in the market value of that security. To complete a short sale transaction, the Fund will borrow the security from a broker-dealer, which generally involves the payment of a premium and transaction costs. The Fund then sells the borrowed security to a buyer in the market. The Fund will then cover the short position by buying shares in the market either (i) at its discretion; or (ii) when called by the broker-dealer lender. Until the security is replaced, the Fund is required to pay the broker-dealer lender any dividends or interest that accrue during the period of the loan. In addition, the net proceeds of the short sale will be retained by the broker to the extent necessary to meet regulatory or other requirements, until the short position is closed out.

The Fund will incur a loss, unlimited in size, as a result of the short sale if the price of the security increases between the date of the short sale and the date on which the Fund replaces the borrowed security. The Fund will realize a gain if the security declines in price between those dates. The amount of any gain will be decreased, and the amount of any loss increased, by the amount of the premium, dividends, interest or expenses the Fund may be required to pay in connection with a short sale. When the Fund makes a short sale, the Fund will segregate liquid assets (such as cash, U.S. government securities, or equity securities) on the Fund's books and/or in a segregated account at the Fund's custodian in an amount sufficient to cover the current value of the securities to be replaced as well as any dividends, interest and/or transaction costs due to the broker-dealer lender. In determining the amount to be segregated, any securities that have been sold short by the Fund will be marked to market daily. To the extent the market price of the security sold short increases and more assets are required to meet the Fund's short sale obligations, additional assets will be segregated to ensure adequate coverage of the Fund's short position obligations.

In addition, the Fund may make short sales "against the box" (i.e., when the Fund sells a security short when the Fund has segregated securities equivalent in kind and amount to the securities sold short, or securities convertible or exchangeable into such securities) and will hold such securities while the short sale is outstanding. The Fund will incur transaction costs, including interest, in connection with opening, maintaining, and closing short sales against the box.

e) Futures contracts – The Fund may use futures contracts and put and call options on equity indexes and ETFs to pursue its investment objective of total return. There is no guarantee such strategies will work. If the Fund is not successful in employing such instruments in managing its portfolio, its performance will be worse than if it did not invest in such instruments. Successful use by the Fund of futures contracts will be subject to its ability to correctly predict movements in the direction of the securities generally or of a particular market segment. In addition, the Fund will pay commissions and other costs in connection with such investments, which may increase the Fund's expenses and reduce the return. In utilizing certain derivatives, the Fund's losses are potentially unlimited. Derivative instruments may also involve the risk that other parties to the derivative contract may fail to meet their obligations, which could cause losses.

While futures contracts are generally liquid instruments, under certain market conditions they may become illiquid. As a result, the Fund may not be able to close out a position in a futures contract at a time that is advantageous. The price of futures can be highly volatile; using them could lower total return, and the potential loss from futures can exceed the Fund's initial investment in such contracts. The Fund's use of derivatives may magnify losses for the Fund.

f) Federal Income Taxes – The Fund has qualified and intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). It is the policy of the Fund to comply with the requirements of the Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its net investment company taxable income and net capital gains. Therefore, no provision for federal income taxes is required.

As of and during the year ended February 29, 2020, the Fund did not have a liability for any unrecognized tax benefits. The Fund recognizes interest and penalties, if any, related to unrecognized tax liability as income tax expense in the statement of operations. During the year ended February 29, 2020, the Fund did not incur any interest or penalties. The Fund identifies its major tax jurisdictions as U.S. Federal and the state of Delaware.

1. ORGANIZATION AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (continued)

In addition, accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (“GAAP”) requires management of the Fund to analyze all open tax years, as defined by IRS statute of limitations, including federal tax authorities and certain state tax authorities. As of and during the years ended February 29, 2020, February 28, 2019, February 28, 2018 and during the period from April 15, 2016 (commencement of operations) through February 28, 2017, the Fund did not have a liability for any unrecognized tax benefits. The Fund has no examination in progress and is not aware of any tax positions for which it is reasonably possible that the total tax amounts of unrecognized tax benefits will significantly change in the next twelve months.

g) Distributions to Shareholders – Dividends from net investment income and distributions of net realized capital gains, if any, will be declared and paid at least annually. Income and capital gain distributions, which are determined in accordance with income tax regulations, are recorded on the ex-dividend date. GAAP requires that permanent financial reporting differences relating to shareholder distributions be reclassified to paid-in capital or net realized gains.

h) Use of Estimates – The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of increases and decreases in net assets from operations during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

i) Expenses – Expenses incurred by the Trust that do not relate to a specific fund of the Trust are allocated to the individual funds based on each fund's relative net assets or another appropriate basis (as determined by the Board of Trustees (the “Board”)).

j) Other – Investment and shareholder transactions are recorded on trade date. The Fund determines the gain or loss realized from the investment transactions by comparing the original cost of the security lot sold with the net sales proceeds using the identified cost method. Dividend income is recognized on the ex-dividend date or as soon as information is available to the Fund and interest income and expenses are recognized on an accrual basis utilizing the effective interest method. Withholding taxes on foreign dividends have been provided for in accordance with the Fund's understanding of the applicable country's tax rules and rates.

2. SECURITIES VALUATIONSProcesses and Structure

The Fund's Board has adopted guidelines for valuing securities and other derivative instruments including in circumstances in which market quotes are not readily available, and has delegated authority to the Adviser to apply those guidelines in determining fair value prices, subject to review by the Board.

Hierarchy of Fair Value Inputs

The Fund utilizes various methods to measure the fair value of most of its investments on a recurring basis. GAAP establishes a hierarchy that prioritizes inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The three levels of inputs are as follows:

- Level 1 – Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Fund has the ability to access.
- Level 2 – Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates, and similar data.
- Level 3 – Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability to the extent that relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Fund's own assumptions about the assumptions that a market participant would use in valuing the asset or liability, and that would be based on the best information available.

WP TrustANNUAL REPORT*IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund*NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

February 29, 2020

2. SECURITIES VALUATIONS (continued)

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in level 3.

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls in its entirety is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety.

Fair Value Measurements

A description of the valuation techniques applied to the Fund's major categories of assets and liabilities measured at fair value on a recurring basis follows.

Equity securities (common stock and ETFs) – Securities traded on a national securities exchange (or reported on the NASDAQ national market) are stated at the last reported sales price on the day of valuation. To the extent these securities are actively traded, and valuation adjustments are not applied, they are categorized in level 1 of the fair value hierarchy. Certain foreign securities may be fair valued using a pricing service that considers the correlation of the trading patterns of the foreign security to the intraday trading in the U.S. markets for investments such as American Depositary Receipts, financial futures, ETFs, and the movement of the certain indexes of securities based on a statistical analysis of the historical relationship and that are categorized in level 2. Preferred stock and other equities traded on inactive markets or valued by reference to similar instruments are also categorized in level 2.

Money market funds – Money market funds are valued at their net asset value of $1.00 per share and are categorized as level 1.

Derivative instruments – Listed derivatives, including options and futures, that are actively traded are valued based on quoted prices from the exchange and categorized in level 1 of the fair value hierarchy. Derivatives held by the Fund for which no current quotations are readily available and which are not traded on the valuation date are valued at the mean price and are categorized within level 2 of the fair value hierarchy. Derivatives that are thinly traded for which a mean price is not available are valued at the ask price or the bid price, whichever is available, and are categorized within level 2 of the fair value hierarchy. Over-the-counter (OTC) derivative contracts include forward, swap, and option contracts related to interest rates; foreign currencies; credit standing of reference entities; equity prices; or commodity prices, and warrants on exchange-traded securities. Depending on the product and terms of the transaction, the fair value of the OTC derivative products can be modeled taking into account the counterparties' creditworthiness and using a series of techniques, including simulation models. Many pricing models do not entail material subjectivity because the methodologies employed do not necessitate significant judgments, and the pricing inputs are observed from actively quoted markets, as is the case of interest rate swap and option contracts. OTC derivative products valued using pricing models are categorized within level 2 of the fair value hierarchy.

Fixed income securities – Fixed income securities, including government securities denominated in U.S. dollars, valued using market quotations in an active market, will be categorized as level 1 securities. However, they may be valued on the basis of prices furnished by a pricing service when the Adviser believes such prices more accurately reflect the fair value of such securities. A pricing service utilizes electronic data processing techniques based on yield spreads relating to securities with similar characteristics to determine prices for normal institutional-size trading units of debt securities without regard to sale or bid prices. These securities will generally be categorized as level 2 securities.

If the Adviser decides that a price provided by the pricing service does not accurately reflect the fair value of the securities, when prices are not readily available from a pricing service, or when certain restricted or illiquid securities are being valued, securities are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by the Adviser, in conformity with guidelines adopted by and subject to review of the Board and the Fair Valuation Committee. These securities will typically be categorized as level 3 securities.

Cost	Gross Appreciation	Gross Depreciation	Net Appreciation
$ 52,361,416	$ 21,183	$ (756)	$ 20,427

The difference between book basis and tax basis unrealized appreciation (depreciation) is primarily attributable to the tax treatment of derivatives.

The Fund's tax basis distributable earnings are determined only at the end of each fiscal year. The tax character of distributable earnings (deficit) at February 29, 2020, the Fund's most recent fiscal year-end, was as follows:

In the normal course of business, the Trust may enter into contracts that may contain a variety of representations and warranties and provide general indemnifications. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is dependent on future claims that may be made against the Fund and, therefore, cannot be estimated; however, management considers the risk of loss from such claims to be remote.

9. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Management is currently evaluating the recent introduction of the COVID-19 virus and its impact on the financial services industry and has concluded that while it is reasonably possible that the virus could have a negative effect on the fair value of the Fund's investments and results of its operations, the specific impact is not readily determinable as of the date of these financial statements. The financial statements do not include any adjustments that might result from the outcome of this uncertainty.

In accordance with GAAP, Management has evaluated the impact of all subsequent events of the Fund through the date the financial statements were issued, and has determined that there were no subsequent events requiring recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.

ANNUAL REPORT

IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund
Information About Your Fund's Expenses - (Unaudited)

As a shareholder of the Fund, you incur ongoing costs, including management fees, and other Fund expenses. The example below is intended to help you understand your ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in the Fund and to compare these costs with the ongoing costs of investing in other mutual funds.

The example is based on an investment of $1,000 invested at the beginning of the period and held for the entire period as indicated below.

Actual Expenses – The first section of the table provides information about actual account values and actual expenses (relating to the example $1,000 investment made at the beginning of the period). You may use the information in this section, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period. Simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number in the first section under the heading entitled “Expenses Paid During Period” to estimate the expenses you paid on your account during this period.

Hypothetical Example for Comparison Purposes – The second section of the table provides information about the hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio and an assumed rate of return of 5% per year before expenses, which is not the Fund's actual return. The hypothetical account values and expenses may not be used to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. You may use this information to compare the ongoing costs of investing in the Fund to other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in the shareholder reports of the other funds.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs, such as sales charges (loads), CDSC fees, or exchange fees. Therefore, the second section of the table is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. In addition, if these transactional costs were included, your costs would have been higher. For more information on transactional costs, please refer to the Fund's prospectus.

Expenses and Value of a $1,000 Investment for the Period ended 02/29/20

	Beginning Account Value (09/01/2019)	Annualized Expense Ratio for the Period	Ending Account Value (02/29/2020)	Expenses Paid During Period (a)
Actual Fund Return (in parentheses)
Institutional Class (+3.20%)	$ 1,000.00	1.70%	$ 1,032.00	$ 8.59
Hypothetical 5% Fund Return
Institutional Class	$ 1,000.00	1.70%	$ 1,016.40	$ 8.52

(a) Expenses are equal to the Fund's annualized expense ratios, multiplied by the average account value over the period, multiplied by 182/366 to reflect the one-half year period.

For more information on Fund expenses, please refer to the Fund's prospectus, which can be obtained from your investment representative or by calling 1-877-244-6235. Please read it carefully before you invest or send money.

Total Fund operating expense ratio as stated in the current Fund prospectus dated June 28, 2019 for the Fund was as follows:
IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund Institutional Class shares	1.92%
The total annual fund operating expense ratio during the year ended February 29, 2020 was 1.65% for the IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund Institutional Class shares. Approval of the Advisory Agreement Renewal for the IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund (Unaudited)

At a meeting held on January 28, 2020, the Board of Trustees (the “Board”) considered the approval of the renewal of the Investment Advisory Agreement (the “Advisory Agreement”) between the Trust and IPS Strategic Capital, Inc. (the “Adviser”) in regard to the IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund (the “IPS Fund”).

Legal Counsel to the Trust (“Counsel”) reviewed with the Board a memorandum from Counsel and addressed to the Trustees that summarized, among other things, the fiduciary duties and responsibilities of the Board in reviewing and approving the renewal of the Advisory Agreement between the Trust and the Adviser with respect to the IPS Fund. A copy of this memorandum was circulated to the Trustees in advance of the Meeting. Counsel discussed with the Trustees the types of information and factors that should be considered by the Board in order to make an informed decision regarding the approval of the continuation of the Advisory Agreement, including the following material factors: (i) the nature, extent and quality of the services provided by the Adviser; (ii) the investment performance of the IPS Fund; (iii) the costs of the services provided and profits to be realized by the Adviser from its relationship with the IPS Fund; (iv) the extent to which economies of scale would be realized if the IPS Fund grows and whether advisory fee levels reflect those economies of scale for the benefit of the IPS Fund’s investors; and (v) the Adviser’s practices regarding possible conflicts of interest and other benefits derived by the Adviser.

In assessing these factors and reaching its decisions, the Board took into consideration information furnished for the Board’s review and consideration throughout the year at regular Board meetings, as well as information specifically prepared and/or presented in connection with the annual renewal process, including information presented to the Board in the Adviser’s presentation earlier in the Meeting. The Board requested and was provided with information and reports relevant to the annual renewal of the Advisory Agreement, including: (i) reports regarding the services and support provided to the IPS Fund and its shareholders by the Adviser; (ii) quarterly assessments of the investment performance of IPS Fund from the Adviser; (iii) periodic commentary on the reasons for the performance; (iv) presentations by the Adviser regarding its investment philosophy, investment strategy, personnel and operations; (v) compliance reports concerning the IPS Fund and the Adviser; (vi) disclosure information contained in the registration statement of the Trust and the Form ADV of the Adviser; and (vii) a memorandum from Counsel, that summarized the fiduciary duties and responsibilities of the Board in reviewing and approving the renewal of the Advisory Agreement, including the material factors set forth above and the types of information included in each factor that should be considered by the Board in order to make an informed decision.

The Board also requested and received various informational materials including, without limitation: (i) documents containing information about the Adviser, including financial information, a description of personnel and the services provided to the IPS Fund, information on investment advice, performance, summaries of the IPS Fund’s expenses, compliance program, current legal matters and other general information; (ii) comparative expense and performance information for other mutual funds with strategies similar to the IPS Fund; (iii) the anticipated effect of size on the IPS Fund’s performance and expenses; and (iv) benefits to be realized by the Adviser from its relationship with the IPS Fund. The Board did not identify any particular information that was most relevant to its consideration to approve the Advisory Agreement and each Trustee may have afforded different weight to the various factors.

(1) The nature, extent and quality of the services provided by the Adviser.

In this regard, the Board considered the responsibilities the Adviser has under the Advisory Agreement with respect to IPS Fund. The Board reviewed the services provided by the Adviser to the IPS Fund including, without limitation: the Adviser’s processes for formulating investment recommendations and assuring compliance with the IPS Fund’s investment objectives and limitations; its efforts to coordinate services among the IPS Fund’s service providers; and the anticipated efforts to promote the IPS Fund, grow assets and assist in the distribution of the IPS Fund’s shares. The Board considered: the Adviser’s staffing, personnel and methods of operating; the education and experience of the Adviser’s personnel; and the Adviser’s compliance program, policies and procedures. After reviewing the foregoing and further information from the Adviser, the Board concluded that the quality, extent and nature of the services to be provided by the Adviser was satisfactory and adequate for the IPS Fund.

Approval of the Advisory Agreement Renewal for the IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund (Unaudited) (continued)(2) Investment Performance of the IPS Fund and the Adviser .

In considering the investment performance of IPS Fund and the Adviser, the Trustees compared the performance of the IPS Fund with the performance of comparable funds with similar objectives managed by other investment advisers. The Trustees also considered the consistency of the Adviser's management of the IPS Fund with its investment objective and policies. The Board noted that the IPS Fund, in comparison with its Morningstar Options Based Category, had, as of the periods ended December 31, 2019, underperformed the category median and average for the 1-year period but outperformed both the category median and average for 3-year period. The Board also considered the IPS Fund's performance relative to a peer group selected by the Adviser (the "Peer Group"), noting that the IPS Fund outperformed all the funds in Peer Group, excluding one of the funds in the Peer Group, for the 1-year period ended December 31, 2019 and outperformed the entire Peer Group for the 3-year period ended December 31, 2019. The Board also considered the range of performance within the Morningstar Options Based Category, noting that the Category captures funds with very diverse strategies. The Board considered the Adviser's periodic explanations of performance at Board Meetings throughout the year. The Trustees noted that the Adviser does not manage any separate accounts that are substantially similar to the IPS Fund. Based on the foregoing, the Board concluded that the investment performance of the IPS Fund was satisfactory.

(3) The costs of the services to be provided and profits to be realized by the Adviser from the relationship with the IPS Fund .

In considering the costs of the services to be provided and profits to be realized by the Adviser from the relationship with the IPS Fund, the Trustees considered: the Adviser's staffing, personnel and methods of operating; the financial condition of the Adviser and its affiliates and the level of commitment to the Adviser's operations by the Adviser and its principals; the current asset level of the IPS Fund; and the projected overall expenses of the IPS Fund. The Trustees considered financial circumstances of the Adviser and discussed the financial stability and productivity of the firm. The Trustees considered the fees and expenses of the IPS Fund (including the management fee) relative to its Morningstar category median and average. The Trustees noted that the IPS Fund's management fee of 1.00% was higher than the Morningstar Options Based Category's median and average management fees of 0.80% and 0.87%, respectively. They also discussed how the IPS Fund's management fee compared to the Peer Group, noting that the Fund's management fee was within the range of management fees charged by the Peer Group. The Trustees compared the IPS Fund's overall expense ratio to its Morningstar Options Based Category's median and average expense ratios, noting that the Fund's expense ratio was higher than both comparative ratios. The Board discussed the complexity of the IPS Fund's strategy and the labor intense nature of the strategy. The Board also considered the ongoing investment the Adviser has made in research and refinement of its investment strategies. It was noted that the Fund may invest in other investment companies so the Board considered the nature of the services rendered and determined, based on the information provided by the Adviser in its response, as well as discussions with the Adviser, that the fees paid with respect to the IPS Fund were based on services provided that are in addition to, rather than duplicative of, the services provided by the investment advisers to the underlying investment companies in which the IPS Fund may invest. The Board discussed the Adviser's high level of service provided to shareholders and its overall performance record relative to its stated investment strategy. The Board considered the Adviser's profitability as it relates to its services to the IPS Fund, concluding that, in consideration of the above the factors, the Adviser's profitability was reasonable. The Board further concluded that the fee to be paid to the Adviser by the IPS Fund was fair and reasonable.

(4) The extent to which economies of scale would be realized as the IPS Fund grows and whether advisory fee levels reflect these economies of scale for the benefit of the IPS Fund's investors .

In this regard, the Board considered the IPS Fund's fee arrangements with the Adviser. The Trustees noted that the IPS Fund would benefit from economies of scale under its agreements with some of its service providers other than the Adviser as fees that were in place with those other service providers were either fixed or essentially semi-fixed, and the Board considered the Adviser's efforts to secure such arrangements for the IPS Fund. The Trustees noted that the Adviser does not manage separately managed accounts with similar strategies as the IPS Fund. Following further discussion of the IPS Fund's expected asset levels, expectations for growth and levels of fees, the Board determined that the IPS Fund's fee arrangements, in light of all the facts and circumstances, were fair and reasonable.

Approval of the Advisory Agreement Renewal for the IPS Strategic Capital Absolute Return Fund (Unaudited) (continued)(5) Possible conflicts of interest and benefits derived by the Adviser .

In considering the Adviser's practices regarding conflicts of interest, the Trustees evaluated the potential for conflicts of interest and considered such matters as: the experience and ability of the advisory and compliance personnel assigned to the IPS Fund; the fact that the Adviser does not utilize soft dollars; the basis of decisions to buy or sell securities for the IPS Fund; and the substance and administration of the Adviser's code of ethics. Based on the foregoing, the Board determined that the Adviser's standards and practices relating to the identification and mitigation of possible conflicts of interest were satisfactory. The Trustees noted that there were no benefits identified by the Adviser to the Board, other than the receipt of advisory fees under the Advisory Agreement, in managing the assets of the IPS Fund.

After additional consideration of the factors delineated in the memorandum provided by Counsel and further discussion among the Board, the Board determined that the compensation payable under the Advisory Agreement with respect to the IPS Fund was fair, reasonable and within a range of what could have been negotiated at arms-length in light of all the surrounding circumstances, and they resolved to approve the Advisory Agreement with respect to the IPS Fund.
